The fundamentals of Karsten Frost Mathiesens personal and professional business strategy are:

- Achievement of goals through hard work, high quality standards and long lasting relationships

For a couple of decades Karsten has been involved in the transporting industry – his corner stone is based on the fact that he worked his way up from a trainee position and has been through most operational and commercial positions within a transporting company on the way to his current position as board member and partner of NTG Group A/S. Karsten has during the years ignited and participated in more than 25 start ups and several M&A's.

During his career he himself has been the major driver and participant in several of the start ups and hence has a unique platform for entrepreneurship and partnership within the transporting industry.

In 2005 and again in 2012 – after he build up another group of companies - he sold his shares in major transactions. When contacted by Jørgen Hansen and given the invite to come and join forces in building up NTG Group he could not reject and ever since building up and entrepreneurship has been his role in the board of NTG Group.

As a natural consequence of 2 previous sell outs, it is not the strive for short term financial success that is the key driver anymore – now it is long term build up of one of Europeans strongest transporting companies that is of essence.
